Iran Replies To Truman On Oil Issue

Grady Handed Note, But Its Contents Still Remain Secret

TEHERAN, June 11 (AP)—Iran today replied to President Truman's appeal to this country for moderation and negotiation in Iran's oil nationalization program.

U.S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady was summoned to the office of Foreign Minister Bagher Kazemi to receive the reply, the contents of which were not disclosed immediately. The cabinet is reported to have drafted the reply in a session last night.

Truman had expressed "the strongest anxiety" over Iran's oil crisis and had urged negotiation with the British in a personal note to Premier Mohammed Mossadeq June 1.

New British-Iranian talks are about to get under way, but there is no clear indication whether a decisive step is impending on the take-over of the billion-dollar oil industry or whether the talks will represent marking time by the Iranian government.

With British negotiators due here today to start high-level discussions, a 12-man Iranian government group is to meet in Abadan, site of the world's largest refinery, to discuss the take-over with local officials of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

The oil company's resident British manager in Abadan, A.E.C. Drake, said he will give Iran's delegation housing and office space. But should the Iranians demand the keys to the company's offices and its refinery, a serious crisis might result.

Iranian officials here said refinery workers have declared if the refinery's British managers prove stubborn, the employees will take matters into their own hands.

If Iran succeeds in taking over, as called for in its 42-day-old nationalization law, it will have to meet a pay roll of 80,000, 12,000 of whom work at the Abadan refinery. Until the company ceased paying oil royalties after passage of the act, it supplied about one-fifth of the government's revenues. It produces about 400 million dollars worth of crude oil a year.

From near-by Bahrain Island in the Persian Gulf, where American interests have the oil concessions, came a newspaper report of anti-British rioting. It said natives were protesting the presence of a British adviser to the ruling sheik. Ardent Iranian nationalists have been urging Iran to press old claims to the island, take it over and nationalize the oil.

Meanwhile, the government rejected a Russian demand that it stop work on a dam near the Soviet frontier, an authoritative source said last night.

Wellsville Police Nab Fleeing Autoist

A Pennsylvanian was apprehended by Wellsville police Sunday afternoon, charged with failing to stop after a traffic accident near Steubenville.

On an alarm broadcast by the State Highway Patrol at Wintersville, Wellsville police stopped Van Camp. He was fined $25 and costs Sunday by Mayor Harry Hamilton of Toronto.

Wedemeyer Upholds MacArthur On China

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Lieutenant General Albert C. Wedemeyer backed General Douglas MacArthur today in denials that they ever had favored a plan to bring the Chinese Communists and Nationalists together in a coalition government.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Lieutenant General Albert C. Wedemeyer testified today he was relieved as deputy chief of staff of the Army in 1949 at his own request.

There have been questions raised by some Congressmen as to whether he was forced out.

Wedemeyer was in the witness chair at the Senate inquiry into the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur.

An old hand in the Far East, he wrote a report in 1947 that predicted a probable Russian-backed attempt to take control of all of Korea.

The report was not made public until the present hearings.

Wedemeyer told the senators that he asked to be relieved as deputy chief of staff two years ago at the time General Mark Clark was relieved as commander of the Sixth Army.

Wedemeyer was then placed in charge of the Sixth Army. He told the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees "it has proved to be a challenging and an interesting assignment."

Wedemeyer, author of the controversial Wedemeyer report on China and Korea, appeared in civilian clothes. All the other generals who have preceded him, except Secretary of Defense Marshall, were in uniform.

A tall, lanky man with silvery gray hair, Wedemeyer had on a light-weight bluish-gray summer suit, white shirt and blue tie.

He is commanding general of the Sixth Army, with headquarters at the Presidio, San Francisco, but recently he asked retirement.

Military aides accompanying the general said his appearance in civilian dress was not, to their knowledge, related to his application for retirement. They said he has worn civilian clothing at prior congressional hearings and that "there has been no official word that we know of" concerning the retirement request.

On his arrival in the committee room, Wedemeyer was greeted first by three Republican senators—Bridges of New Hampshire, Cain of Washington and Smith of New Jersey.

The general chatted with them until Chairman Russell (D) of Georgia came in. Then Wedemeyer strode across the room and shook hands with Russell.

"Senator," he said, "I have been following these hearings very closely and I think you have been doing a swell job. That is the consensus on the west coast."

Russell thanked him and said he had become quite familiar with Wedemeyer's career since the start of the inquiry. He told the general he is "one of the truly great" men of the nation.

Peace Move Not Expected By Marshall

Defense Chief Says Enemy Gets Self In 'Difficult Position'

TOKYO, June 11 (AP)—U.S. Defense Secretary Marshall says the Chinese Reds "have got themselves into a difficult situation". He added that he does not expect any Chinese peace move soon. Shortly thereafter, he left by air for Washington.

Marshall expressed no optimism about an early end to the Korean war. Neither did he foresee an indefinite stalemate.

"I cannot conceive of the Korean war going on for years," he told Allied newsmen.

"I can conceive of the tension going on for years, but not the war."

He said United Nations fighting men "must have badly damaged" the core of the Communist-trained armies. He added there is no doubt the Chinese had hoped to push the Allies out of Korea.

"What their attitude is now, I couldn't say," Marshall said.

For three and a half days Marshall conferred with General Matthew B. Ridgway and United Nations field commanders in Korea. He also talked today with Shigeru Yoshida, Japan's prime minister. Presumably they discussed plans for Japan's future defense.

Before boarding his huge constellations plane at Haneda airport, Marshall emphatically told newsmen for the third time on this trip:

1.—His visit had nothing to do with any proposed settlement of the Korean war.

2.—He had brought no new instructions to General Ridgway.

America's first five-star general said the purpose of his trip was purely military—to see the U.S. Eighth Army and study the problems of replacement and rotation.

2nd Car Theft Jails Man, 23

Bergholz 'Bad Man' Had Eluded Pursuit

The Bergholz "bad boy", Arnum Lingenfelter, 23, was back in the Jefferson County Jail today in connection with his second alleged East Liverpool car theft.

Lingenfelter, who lived here for a few months until his arrest in a traffic case led to a confession of a series of burglaries in Jefferson County, was sought as the driver of a stolen car that was pursued by police of half a dozen communities June 4.

Two men appeared at a Bergholz tavern with an offer to sell four cases of wine. The proprietor became suspicious and phoned sheriff's men. They gave chase after alerting Wellsville, Sallsville, East Liverpool and Carroll County police, who blocked all roads.

The car finally was bottled up and when authorities closed in they found an intoxicated man in the front seat but the driver, identified as Lingenfelter, had fled.

The car belonged to Fred H. Stevens, 337 East Eighth St., and was stolen from in front of his home. The car disappeared about the time Higgs Inn on Route 30 was burglarized of a quantity of wine and beer.

Nothing more was heard of Lingenfelter, who was free under $1,000 bond in the Bergholz burglaries, until Saturday night when Marshal John Amstutz spotted the fugitive in a 1951 auto at Bergholz. He gave up without an argument.

The car, police found, had been stolen between 5 and 6 p. m. from the Little Motor Sales on Walnut St.

Lingenfelter was fined $125 here May 2 on a gun charge and two traffic counts. He pulled the gun on Deputy Sheriff John Chan when the two argued about a parking spot in East End the day before.

While in jail, it developed Jefferson authorities wanted him and his father for the series of 12 or more burglaries, mostly in the Bergholz area.

Chester Man Hurt Fatally In Fist Fight

Bartender Jailed At Steubenville; Victim Is Lawrence Roush

A Chester man was found dead Sunday night on a Steubenville street, apparently from a blow received in a fight with a husky bartender over the bartender's estranged wife.

Jefferson County Coroner Dr. John P. Smarrella said Lawrence Franklin Roush, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roush of Church St., died of a ruptured blood vessel at the base of the brain.

Police are holding George Secosky, 35, and his estranged wife, Mrs. Jewel Secosky, 20, pending investigation into the death. He will be accused of manslaughter.

They said Mrs. Secosky fled suit for divorce last September and that Roush had been dating her.

Nathan Stern, assistant Jefferson county prosecutor, declared Secosky would say only that Roush swung first and that he retaliated with two blows.

The woman would not talk at all, Stern added. Her divorce suit was dismissed later when she apparently returned to her husband.

A call to Market St. was received about 7 p. m. yesterday where police found Roush and Mrs. Secosky coming from the river, both soaking wet.

According to police, Roush said Mrs. Secosky had jumped into the river and he pulled her out.

She was jailed for intoxication and investigation and Roush was released.

About 15 minutes later, police said, they were called to the Oasis Tavern, two blocks away, where they found Roush dead on the sidewalk.

Witnesses told Dr. Smarrella that Secosky was sitting in the tavern when Roush walked in and said:

"Understand you have been looking for me. What do you want?"

The two walked outside, witnesses said, and Roush was felled with a punch on the chin, his head striking the pavement.

Roush was born in Chester, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roush. He formerly was employed by the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland but worked for the past two months as a ride operator for carnival exhibiting in Steubenville.

He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the European Theater.

He leaves two sisters, Edna Roush and Jean Roush, and a brother, William Roush, all at home.

The body was taken to the Arner Funeral Chapel in Chester for rites Wednesday at 3 p. m. by Rev. J. P. Atkinson, pastor of the Free Methodist Church. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery.

Jones was traveling west and Leopold was headed east, police said.

Jones' wife, Ann, was treated at the hospital for a lacerated elbow.

11-Man Board Sifts Jet Case

Wreckage Of Planes Shipped To Dayton

DAYTON, June 11 (AP)—The broken and twisted wrecks of eight jet planes are en route here from Richmond, Ind., for study by an 11-man board.

The investigation board was named by the Air Force last night to determine what made the planes tumble out of a mass formation last Friday.

Only a few minutes after 71 Thunderjets took off from the Wright-Patterson Air Force base, they hit a thunderstorm. Eight crashed, killing three pilots and injuring two others.

But, at least one pilot said Wedemeyer was not a factor in the crashes.

Major General Victor E. Bertrandias, deputy inspector general for flight safety and research and technical director for the Air Force, will head the inquiry. In announcing appointment of the investigating board he will head, General Bertrandias said:

"Inquiry into the cause of aircraft accidents is a thorough and painstaking process. Our study will aim at mature, accurate and well-founded conclusions. These cannot be reached overnight."

Victim's Wife Hurt Slightly In Mishap At Laughlins Corner

A Detroit motorist died Sunday afternoon at City Hospital from injuries received six hours earlier in an accident on Route 30 near Laughlins Corners.

Willie Jones, 29, succumbed to internal injuries at 12:45 p. m.

According to the Pennsylvania State Police at Imperial, Jones' car was struck by a pickup truck operated by S. Ernest Leopold Jr., 23, of Imperial near Woody's Cabins about 6:45 a. m.

Jones was traveling west and Leopold was headed east, police said.

3 College Students Hurt In Sideswiping

Three University of Wisconsin students were treated at City Hospital early today for injuries received in a sideswiping accident on Route 30 near the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line.

Hospital authorities said Tilden Edelstein, 20, of Buffalo was driving east when blinded by lights and sideswiped a tank truck, about 2:10 a. m. near Ramsey's Road, a half-mile across the West Virginia line.

Edelstein received a laceration to his lower lip and abrasions to both knees.

Alfred Meyers of New York City sustained contusions of the right elbow and multiple abrasions to his face while Alan Seitz, also of New York City, received lacerations to his forehead and chin.

Salineville Boy Hurt As Dad's Auto Wrecks

City Faces Reduced Supplies Of Beef

The city's beef supply will be about a third less for the next few weeks, a survey of local meat dealers showed today, with no let-up in sight.

Mrs. East Liverpool Housewife is taking the wide-spread shortage calmly, however, with no run on existing beef supplies reported Saturday or today.

Local dealers are of the opinion that if housewives continue rationing buying, there should be enough meat for everybody—supplemented, of course, by poultry, lamb, pork and fish.

ALLIED TROOPS have seized two of the three bases which made up the Communist "iron triangle" in North Korea. Tanks lumbered today into Chonwon (2) and Kumhwa (1) amid cheers of Koreans.

'Chair Corps' Of 95,784 In Services Hit

Waste Of Manpower Blasted In Senators' Check Of 16 Centers

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Investigating senators have protested what they call "a waste of physically-fit manpower" in all the armed services.

A spot check at 16 Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine training centers, a Senate armed services subcommittee said last night, disclosed 95,784 enlisted men and officers in jobs or duties which non-combat personnel could fill.

It referred to these men as a "Chair Corps".

Chairman Johnson (D) of Texas of the investigating group said: "These men represent a waste of physically-fit manpower which this nation cannot afford."

With the backing of his subcommittee in a biting report to the Senate, he called for a sharp revision of manpower policies in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

The report urged that thousands of jobs now filled by "combat qualified" men be given to less able bodied or "limited service" men, to women in the armed services or to civilians.

"Today a high percentage of America's finest manpower strength is desk-bound, confined to paperwork or mere 'housekeeping chores'," the report said. "We cannot meet the challenge before us with such a heavy percentage of our strength seated in chairs."

In the 16 training camps checked—a small part of the nation's hundreds of military installations—committee investigators were reported to have found the "equivalent of three to five divisions."

"In other words, sitting at desks, working in kitchens, carrying messages, driving automobiles, operating motion picture machines, running PX's (post exchanges), and doing similar jobs, are nearly enough men to fill our commitment to Europe," the report said.

In Washington alone, the report said some 3,212 "Chair Corps" soldiers are assigned to various headquarters.

The policy of rejecting professional baseball and football players and other athletes because of minor defects drew caustic criticism.

"A man physically able to play baseball or football daily is physically able to make a worthwhile contribution to the strength of the nation," the report said. "Likewise, a man physically able to work daily in any profession or trade as a civilian is usually able to perform the same duties for the military."

Coal Office, Church Entered By Thieves

A burglar went away empty-handed after breaking into the office of the Enterprise Coal Co. on Walnut St. early today, police reported.

Officers discovered a broken window in the office at 238 a. m. B. A. McKeever, the operator, made a check and reported nothing missing, although the office had been ransacked, police said.

In another week-end case, a $250 trumpet was stolen Sunday afternoon from the choir loft at the First Church of the Nazarene, police said. Rev. C. L. Rodda, the minister, told police the trumpet was taken between 5 and 5:50 p. m. after it had been left by the owner, Ronnie Davis, 164 Fawcett St.

Bradley Back; Will Report To President

Completes 10-Day Conferences With Leaders In Europe

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, returned today from a 10-day round of conferences with American, British and French military leaders in Europe.

Bradley's report on his talks abroad will be the first of a series of personal studies by top defense officials from which a broad and up-to-date picture of America's global position can be assembled.

Bradley is expected to make a preliminary report during the day to President Truman and Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett.

Within the next 10 days, Truman will have available the observations and recommendations of three other Pentagon chiefs who simultaneously made high-level reconnaissance missions to Europe and the Far East.

Their findings and suggestions probably will be integrated into a new, revised pattern of current and future policies. Despite their insistence that they have made the overseas trips only as military men and that no international political significance attaches to their visits, it is impossible to separate military affairs entirely from those of diplomacy.

The chief of the U.S. Air Force, General Hoyt Vandenberg, has been checking up on the status of air power in western Europe.

The return of Secretary of Defense Marshall from his surprise journey to the Korean war front and the Tokyo headquarters of General Matthew Ridgway, supreme commander in the Far East, is expected within a day or two.

He took off from Tokyo early today.

Bush Urges Patience, Balance In U.S. Policy

WATERVILLE, Me., June 11 (AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, appealed today for patience, perspective and balance in American foreign policy.

In an address at Colby College's 130th commencement, at which he received an honorary Doctorate of Laws, he called for "deliberate logical thinking about our problems rather than emotional extremes and desperate actions if we wish to avoid an all-out war."

Asserting that there is "an excellent opportunity" to avert a third world war, Bush said "we need to avoid petty bickerings, the destruction of character for ulterior purposes, or the placing of political advantage above national interest."

Ralph Kiner To Wed Nancy Chaffee In Fall

NEW YORK, June 11 (UP)—Home run king Ralph Kiner and Tennis Queen Nancy Chaffee will be married in the Fall.

Engagement of the $65,000-a-year Pittsburgh Pirate Star baseball's "most eligible" bachelor, to the current No. 1 glamour girl of the courts was announced by the couple last night at a party in a New York restaurant.

Kiner said they will be married "when both our seasons are over."

The baseball season will end Oct. 1, while the national tennis championships will end Sept. 3.

U.N. Troops In Kumhwa, Chonwon

Next Good Defense Line Of Foe Lies 65 Miles To The North

TOKYO, June 11 (AP)—United Nations tanks rumbled into Chonwon and Kumhwa today, collapsing the Communist "iron triangle" in North Korea.

Thick carpets of mines slowed the lumbering tanks.

But Red rear guards, armed only with rifles and machine guns, faded quickly before the blasting fire of American tanks.

Infantrymen moved in with the tanks, taking over the anchors of the Reds' vaunted assembly area 20 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Lieutenant General James A. Van Fleet, U. N. ground commander, announced "final seizure" of the area Sunday evening and the climax of a bitter eight-day battle.

But the two towns were not actually occupied until today.

The Eighth Army said they were entered five minutes apart—Kumhwa at 12:55 p. m. and Chonwon at 1 p. m.

Hundreds of Korean civilians cheered the U. N. troops.

U. N. officers said the next good defense line for the Reds is 65 miles to the north. It would be based on the Pongwang-Wonsan cross-country highway which girdles Korea just below its narrow waist.

Allies moving into Chonwon and Kumhwa also cut the road between the two points—the only other cross-country highway in the southern part of Red Korea.

U. N. forces also seized control of roads leading northwest to the Red capital of Pyongyang and the last coast port of Wonsan which the Navy has bombed daily for four months.

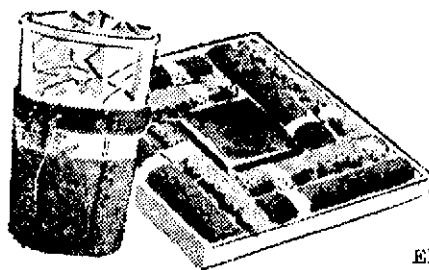

Chonwon and Kumhwa were keys of the "iron triangle," spanning ground of Communist offensives and base for the first line of defense of Red Korea.

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick.

It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight.

It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.

These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass† with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.

Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.

As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflo.*

As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick."

Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.

Resistant, unbreakable, and models are subject to change without notice. †Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Buick models.

No other car provides all this:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
PUSH-BAR FRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING

The First Law

A large segment of the world's population today closes its observance honoring the world's oldest written law, and the foundation of modern law.

It is the holiday of Shabbath. In Jewish tradition, it commemorates the day when Moses received the Ten Commandments on Mt. Sinai. Even earlier it had been the festival of the grain harvest.

Until Moses ascended into the mountain and, according to Bible accounts, received the law on tablets of stone, the world had been without any formal rules of conduct.

This marks the beginning of law. Many of the Ten Commandments are in the written law of all orderly nations. The others are observed by people of good intent everywhere.

The law of Sinai still is the world's finest course of conduct after many thousands of years. This earth would be a better place if all people, like the Jews, would set apart a season to remember these laws, and recommit their lives to their observance.

Our Oldest Industry

This is Dairy Month, and we pause a minute to reflect on the meaning of one of the world's oldest industries and one of the largest.

Milk is one of the world's oldest foods. It has undergone refinements in handling, but it still is essentially the same food which ancestors of the human race drank back in the days of antiquity. When Moses spoke of a "land flowing with milk and honey", he was talking about the same kind of milk today's youngsters drink.

Dairying is the largest completely local industry. It is unique in that the product it markets did not exist 24 hours earlier. Modern processing, transportation and refrigeration have made it possible for every family to have good milk on its doorstep every day. Youngsters who never saw a cow drink safer milk than those who took it straight from the cow in an earlier generation.

Any business which was flourishing when Rome was still a wilderness and Greece the home of savages, and which today is going stronger than ever has a right to its celebration.

Hospital Aid For Aged

President Truman, defeated soundly in his efforts to have Congress adopt a socialized medicine program, now is reported ready to ask legislation to provide hospital care for recipients of social security payments.

This proposal will be received much more sympathetically. To give temporary aid to old people living on their meager social security payments is much more defensible than the idea of providing medical care for all the people, regardless of age or need.

Social security, in theory, provides a competence for those who have reached the age of 65 after a useful productive life. In fact, it falls considerably short of providing adequate income for these older people in health. Sickness and hospitalization would pose financial problems difficult to solve.

The President's plan has a long and probably hard way to go.

It deserves the earnest attention of Congress, free from preconceived prejudices. If our tax-burdened nation can afford additional benevolences, this seems a worthy one.

Cutting The Tax On Culture

County fairs, little theaters, civic orchestras and similar non-profit organizations are filled with hope that Congress will recind the admissions tax which has threatened their existence. The House ways and means committee has approved tentatively a change, eliminating these local organizations from the 20 per cent admissions tax. Reports from Washington say it has a good chance of passage.

The admissions tax represented in many cases the difference between survival and failure for these organizations. The amount paid by patrons had to be increased to include the tax, or the net admission charge received by the organization had to be reduced to meet the tax. In either case, results were bad for the finances of the group.

Tax revenue from these purely local enterprises amounts to about $15,000,000 a year. This is only a drop in the multi billion dollar national budget, but it is a staggering figure for the people who are trying to keep these wholesome hometown enterprises going.

Distinctively American

Wilberforce University, Negro Methodist institution, will award the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity to Rabbi Rudolph M. Rosenthal of the Jewish Temple on the Heights in Cleveland.

There is nothing especially unique in such an event in these United States. There are many parts of the world where it would be impossible. It is a circumstance in which all Americans can take a bit of pride.

Congratulations to Rabbi Rosenthal, and to Wilberforce.

Acheson Twists History To Serve Own Purposes

Dean Acheson's testimony on China was in many respects revealing.

While his recitation of Chinese history for the period under discussion was, in the main, correct as to dates, names and places, he did not provide evidence of an understanding of the spirit of the Chinese people.

His testimony, however, makes startling omissions, perhaps because he is a lawyer who writes his brief to conform to the necessities of his case.

For instance, Acheson notes that by 1945 the Chinese nationalists will to fight had degenerated seriously. All this is true but not the whole truth. Let us put it chronologically:

1.—From 1926 to this very day, Nationalist China has been at war with the Chinese Communists.

2.—From Sept. 19, 1921, until Aug. 14, 1945, (V-J Day), Nationalist China was at war with Japan.

3.—The United States entered that war Dec. 8, 1941; Soviet Russia entered that war Aug. 8, 1945. Therefore, Nationalist China was at war with Japan, alone and unaided, for more than 10 years before we joined that country as an ally and fought for almost four years alongside us, and for six years alongside the Communists since then.

IS THERE any wonder that Nationalist China was tired, that its armies had suffered war fatigue, that its people wanted peace at any price?

Acheson omitted this chronology from his statement and, therefore, his statement lacks coherence. One might ask why, if the Chinese fought Japan for 14 years, did they stop fighting the Russians? The answer could be that they were worn out. That, of course, was the answer.

Again, Acheson states: "The Yalta agreements were made in the very early part of 1945. Later on, in August of 1945, treaties were signed between the Chinese Nationalist government and the Soviet Union, which grew out of and were based upon these Yalta agreements."

He omitted to say that it was the president of the United States who pressed China, then a country dependent upon us, to accept the Russian treaty to which Acheson refers. In fact, the Yalta agreement, signed by Stalin, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, stipulates:

"It is understood that the agreement concerning Outer Mongolia and the ports and railroads referred to above will require concurrence of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The president will take measures in order to obtain this concurrence on advice from Marshal Stalin.

"The heads of the three great powers have agreed that these claims of the Soviet Union shall be unquestionably fulfilled after Japan has been defeated.

"For its part the Soviet Union expresses its readiness to conclude with the national government of China a pact of friendship and alliance between the U.S.S.R. and China in order to render assistance to China with its armed forces for the purpose of liberating China from the Japanese yoke."

I WISH to repeat, for emphasis, this one sentence: The president will take measures in order to obtain this concurrence on advice from Marshal Stalin.

Chiang Kai-shek was in no position at that time, or at any time, to flout Franklin D. Roosevelt. The most he could do was to hope that after his country had fought so gallantly against Japan it would not be thrown as a bone to Stalin.

It is a little difficult to understand Acheson's omission of these facts. He knows all about them and he should have included them in the evidence.

In another place, Acheson said: "The Russians took the same attitude toward these rights that the Chinese took toward their rights in Formosa."

"The Russians had lost theirs to the Japanese by war in 1904; the Chinese had lost theirs to the Japanese by war in 1895."

"Russia made its claim for those rights and the claims were granted at this meeting at Yalta."

Now there is a long history connected with the Russo-Japanese War of 1904, settled by the Treaty of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, in 1905. Acheson speaks as though Manchuria, the cities of Port Arthur and Dairen and the Chinese Eastern Railroad were Russian. They were Chinese.

Russia stole them from China, as a result of the Sino-Japanese War, in 1896 by corruption, bribery and the worst kind of imperialist chicanery. It was one reason for America's issuance of John Hay's "open door policy" (1899) and for the formation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance (1902).

In a word, by careful omission of essential facts, Acheson twists history to serve his own purposes.

Inside On Labor

By Victor Riesel

Gracefully the big transcontinental American airliner glided in for a smooth landing at LaGuardia airport. Off it hustled a chap who was on his way to plan giving this nation a rough time in the next few weeks.

In a few hours, he walked through the back entrance of a grimy loft building on Manhattan's East 12th St. and soon sat with others, who, like himself, had been summoned hurriedly to this utterly secret strategy session of the Communist party's new high command.

The chap who had just flown in from San Francisco was William Schneiderman, chairman of the California Communist party. He was but one of the many important district functionaries who were rushed in for new tactical briefings now that the party's 11 top leaders are on their way to jail and an alternate high board is ready to take over.

It undoubtedly will surprise Comrade Schneiderman to learn that his personal security efforts were useless, but "c'est la guerre", and who started it anyway?

AFTER A routine check of those present, the session began at 10:30 a. m. with its directors still convinced that they were talking in utmost secrecy. The district commissars were told of the party's future operations.

Before the five-day session is over, the regional chiefs will be told to organize mass protests in behalf of the penitentiary-bound politburo; to shout that prosecution chiefs meant the persecution of legitimate labor chiefs, and that nothing must stop the drive to spread sentiment for the appeasing of the Soviets in Communist China and North Korea.

Experts who knew of this guarded session which the party took such intricate steps to camouflage, knew, too, that the regional Communist chiefs were being told to fan out as far as California with word that the party's apparatus would continue to function, regardless of all indictments and arrests.

There was little doubt but that the neatly-dressed, innocuous-looking men and the few cause-crazy women were expected to go out and create disturbances, send delegations of union people to Washington, tie up the docks, make impossible wage demands, cause slowdown strikes and run hundreds of "peace" rallies in the next 30 days. All this for the benefit of the Cominform radio, which knows how to use the psychological offensive as a military weapon.

Already the Soviet propaganda sections chiefs operating the Com-inform headquarters radio out of Bucharest, Romania, are exploiting the rumor out of Washington that our government is about to throw 12,000 Communists into concentration camps to prevent just this sort of agitation on the labor front.

The F.B.I. employs 150,000 secret agents; in the last four years, 135,000 people have been jailed and 830,000 have been deported; a recent broadcast charged, "The Fascist policy of the U.S. began in September, 1950, when the law was passed requiring members of the Communist party and of Democratic parties to register was passed. Not long ago the U.S. attorney general announced that the prosecution of 12,000 people would begin. The introduction of such fascist measures in the U.S. proves that the ruling circles are weak."

ALL OF THIS utter nonsense is beamed to the Orient, where it stiffens the native will to resist, for it spreads the ludicrous impression that there are overwhelming pro-Soviet movements in the U.S., which we are trying to suppress. So, as this is being written, the Communist lobbies are ordering their regional activists to get started substantiating this impression. How will it be done? Easily.

The party has built peace committees around friendly unions in more than 100 municipalities. But in other cities, there are specially-trained cadres, and I list them so the areas can alert themselves to any sudden "peace" crusade.

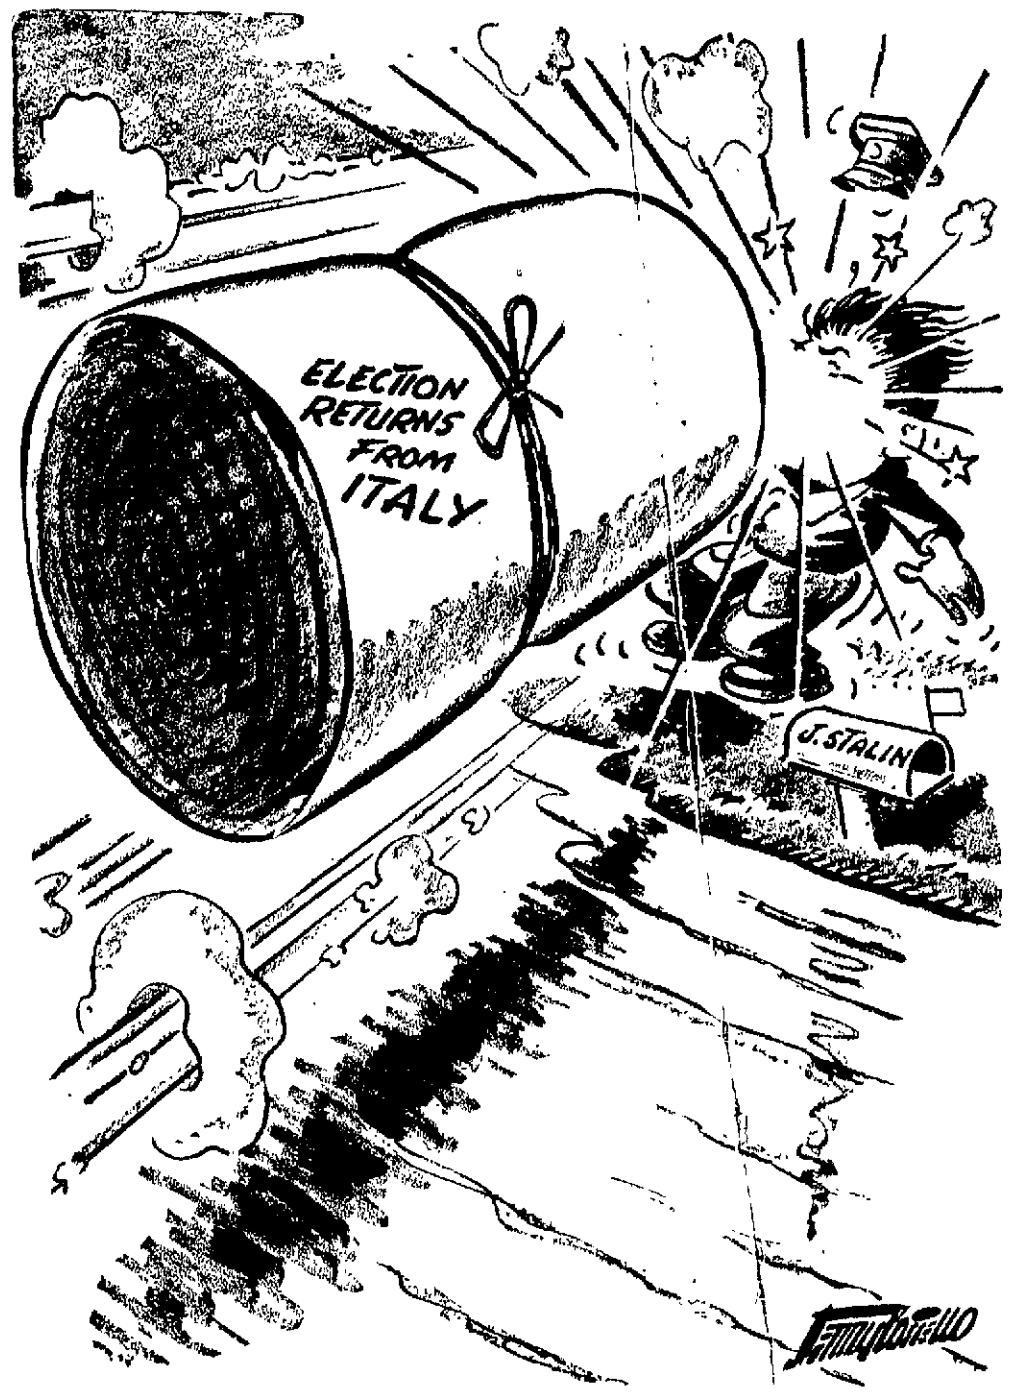

There are 24 special area networks built around the following cities: New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Newark, Wilmington, Salt Lake City, Phoenix, Kansas City, St. Louis, Denver, Butte, Spokane, Coeur d'Alene, Rock Island, Ill., Miami, Hartford, Waterbury, New Haven, New London, Conn., and Louisville.

How do they work? They run demonstrations in the grass roots states such as Montana, where five peace rallies were held recently. Or like those Ford Co. unionists who should be investigated immediately by the government, they send messages to the foreign ministers' council in Paris, pushing the same line as the Soviets. Then the stuff is reprinted in the Cominform newspaper or broadcast to the Orient by Cominform radio.

There's no sense keeping all this so secret, comrades. I thought I'd let everybody know.

Smith Fixes The Future

By Walter Lippmann

As one day follows another in these Senate hearings, I have come to think that the advocates of nudism may be right when they say that people soon become used to it and wonder why they ever wore clothes.

In a few short weeks we and all the world have learned to take it for granted without blushing at all that it is quite proper, some even say patriotic, to summon the military and civilian leaders of a nation at war and then to proceed publicly and officially to strip them naked.

Having gotten used to the idea that such an incredible thing as we have been witnessing could happen at all, I have now found something else to marvel at.

It is what a high opinion some of the senators have of the human mind. There is nothing, they seem to think, that cannot be known so certainly that it is sinister to think differently, or even to be a little less certain than they are.

One of them, for example, whom I shall call Senator Smith in order not to identify him, is proceeding on the assumption that he knows the whole truth about our relations with the Chinese revolution and that he knows not only all that has happened but also what should have happened.

BUT THAT is only the half of what Smith knows. His confidence in the human mind is so great that he is trying also to exact public pledges, with all the 'I's dotted and all the 't's crossed, of what the United States government will do and will not do in the future about China, Korea, Japan etc., etc.

If Smith were not so respectable, and so very well-meaning, his belief that he can remake the past and fasten down the future would not be so important.

But in a senator with such high moral principles and so much influence, who has had some practical experience in international affairs and has even taught school about them, it is alarming that he should have none of the humility which is the beginning of wisdom. Did he have any of that humility he would not be doing so solemnly and earnestly what is inherently absurd and impossible.

Absurd is a harsh word. But it is not absurd for an American in 1951 to be dogmatic about what did happen and about what should have happened in the Chinese wars for the last 30 years?

Is there any other great historical event — even one where all the archives have been opened to the historians — about which any reputable scholar is as almighty sure of everything as the senator is about the Chinese revolution?

Does he think he or anyone else could know as much today about the Chinese revolution and civil war as can be known now let us say about the French revolution or the American Civil War?

Yet the history of these events is still being re-examined and revised and the records which long have been opened are still incomplete and new evidence is still coming to light. Has Smith or anyone else seen the archives of the Chinese Nationalist government, or the archives of Mao's movement, or the Soviet archives, or the Japanese? No one has seen them. Why, then, does the senator think he knows the truth about the Chinese revolution, or enough of it to talk as if our knowledge of it were fixed, final and self-evident?

AND SINCE there is as yet nothing like a reliable historical account of what has happened in China, should not a theory of how something else could have been made to happen in China be advanced tentatively, modestly and never in the stentorian tones of a dictator who feels that he has never seen anything but right?

For even if Smith is right about what went wrong at Yalta or in Marshall's mission, he might meditate on Bantayan's saying that not even God can change the past.

Smith's passion about the past is, of course, moved by his fear that the same men will make the same mistakes in the future. He is determined, therefore, that in these hearings he will nail them down, he will sew them up, he will lash them fast, so that they cannot make any more serious mistakes ever again.

If Smith could do all that he is trying to do, he would now obtain from the secretary of state a script of everything that the United States government will ever say for the next five years on the subject of China, Korea, Formosa, Japan and the United Nations. This script, having been fully debated and edited by the Senate in open session with television added, would then in its final form be recorded on disks and deposited at the F.B.I.

Acheson would then resign, and no one would need to be appointed in his place. If, unhappily, it ever became necessary again to stoop so low as to discuss the future of anything in the Far East with any other government, the appropriate disk would be brought out of the F.B.I. and played on the steps of the Senate office building. In this way Smith would be able to feel that he had done everything that needed to be done to fix the future.

Good Old Pop

By Frank Tripp

woman, though he was there first, didn't eat the apple and didn't do a lot of things that he gets blamed for. So our pops deserve a day.

My pop was a honey, long on silence, appetite and horse sense. When I quit school and got a job on a newspaper he said to me, "O.K., but how are you going to make a living?" Even 20 years later, after I'd proved that I could, he'd read my stuff and declare, "Barnum was right." I'm glad he wasn't an editor.

He was a smart old fellow, 40 years older than I, but I caught up to him — within one day. He could tell in the morning what kind of a day it would be. That same night, I could tell what kind of a day it was.

He always had the India sign on me by at least one day, which is all you need to lick even Wall Street. I guess that's why every son has a special kind of affection for his dad.

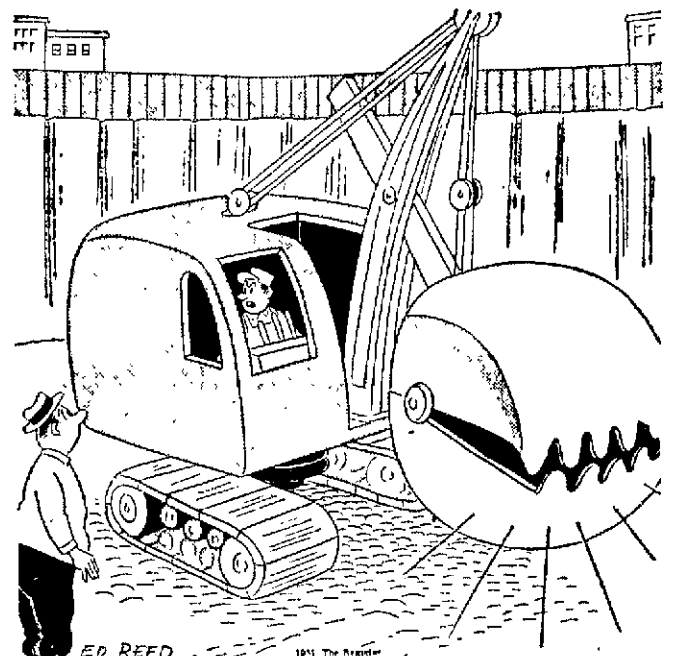

It's swell to give pop a break now and then. He gets pushed around a awful lot. When the child is born he gets laughed at and is taunted by the hardhearted sawbones with the bromide that he never lost a father yet.

All the way along the kid's trek from the cradle to the altar, pop's role is as far in the background as a scene shifter.

Oh well, dads don't want to be slobbered over. They don't expect any demonstration; but it will do your pop good for weeks if somebody around the house just remembers to say that he's not a bad egg after all.

Off The Record

"I need $5, Joe—Know anybody I can put the bite on?"

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Ex-Commie Explains

"Yes, I was a Commie for 10 or 12 years while living on the fat of the land. Living the life of Reilly while playing the hand of Stalin, as it were. But I just can't understand how it happened. Possibly it was something I ate. I was drawing down $5,000 to $10,000 a week, working a few hours a day, the possessor of a Hollywood palace and two swimming pools, yet the American way seemed pretty unbearable," said the Hollywood notable.

"Yes, yes, go on," urged the cross-examiner.

"One week I made $12,000 without even showing up the last four days, won an Oscar and achieved the very pinnacle of success without working up a sweat. Then an inner voice said to me, 'That's a democracy for you! No opportunities! No freedom!'"

"What happened next?"

"ONE DAY a fellow worker and pal of Joe's asked me to join the Communist party. He pointed out that I didn't know where my next yacht was coming from, that never under the American system could I hope to drive two Rolls Royces abreast, no hands 'Who's to blame?' he asked 'Wall Street,' he answered."

"Didn't you put up an argument?"

"No. You get no credit lines for arguments. Besides I was at work on two big pictures and was already 15 minutes late getting to the bank that day. I signed up at once. I suppose I might have postponed it until evening, but there was a cocktail party on and a fellow feels so foolish with pen and ink at those things."

"You remained a member of the Communist party, not the cocktail party, for a dozen years?" we asked.

"Yes, how time flies! But then it happened. The U. S. government began probing. The hunt got hot. Facts, data, dates, exposure all loomed ahead. Suddenly I saw the issue, 'When is a Commie not a Commie' and the answer came clearly, 'It had better be NOW!'"

"YOU SAW YOUR error in tying up with the Kremlin?"

"And how! Everything became so opaque and crystal clear."

"How do you explain this after remaining 10 or 12 years as a Commie in good standing?"

"For five years my glasses were defective and my oculist was playing golf. For two years I had spots before my eyes due to liver trouble. Then there was three years when we had a lot of heavy fog in California, if you remember."

"Will you explain in more detail how you suddenly decided America under a democratic system wasn't unbearable?"

"I got up one morning, showered, shaved and saw the headline WET PLANKS BEING RAISED. I remember it had a Washington date-line. There had been stories that the planks were being poked around but now they were to be RAISED. Well, did I turn in my card fast and resign! Oh, boy!"

"No delay, eh?"

"Oh, only at the resignation window. There was a long line ahead of me."

"Single or double line?"

"Double. But you should see it now. It has four lanes!"

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

We're still waiting for someone to tell us where the administration got the hot tip that it's safe to beat Communies in Korea, but not the same Communies before they arrive in Korea from Manchuria.

A whole parade of witnesses has told the Senate House probers that the Communies can be worn down to quitting in Korea, but it would be a "grave risk" to manacle them in Manchuria.

My barber says he doesn't recall Stalin writing such a letter, but he must have as the Blair House battalion is so sure that he will do nothing about Korea, but would go to war over Manchuria.

All I know about these certainties of the enemy's intentions is what Churchill once said when asked where he thought the Japanese would strike next, and he answered: "I'm sorry, Hirohito doesn't tell me his plans."

Who has Stalin been talking to that we can be so sure Korea is a safe risk, but Manchuria is not.

"All aid short of war" was a safe risk too until we were in it.

Steel Squeeze May Tighten

Third Quarter Due To Bring Hardships

CLEVELAND, June 11 (UP)—Steel Magazine said today that, from the present outlook, third-quarter supply for non-defense consumers will be the "toughest yet."

"Free" steel for the general untraded market, the magazine said, may not exceed more than 25 or 30 per cent of production, and probably will fall considerably short of demand.

Much of the degree of manufacturers' uncertainty, Steel said, is attributable to the new Controlled Materials Plan, which goes into effect July 1. Although considerable preliminary work has been done in shaping administrative details, much more remains before a smoothly-functioning supply system will be evolved.

Therefore, the magazine said, the third quarter will be little more than a "warm-up period" for CMP until complete transition from the present priorities system is achieved.

As part of the transition to CMP, third-quarter use of iron and steel in most consumer durables has been restricted to 70 per cent of base period consumption. This figure does not include automobiles, which have their own regulations that will cut production to an estimated 37 per cent.

However, the magazine pointed out, auto builders can turn out as many cars as before without using more steel by changing to production of lighter models.

Last week's steel production held at 103 per cent of capacity—the eighth consecutive week the mills have operated at that or higher levels. District operations may begin to disappear during the Far West, and 1 point to 103 in Pittsburgh.

Detroit Relaxes Rule On Tree Licenses

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit will have more shade trees than any other city in the nation if the Parks and Recreation Department can clear away some of the municipal red tape.

Department Superintendent J. J. Considine says any citizen can get a free permit for planting trees, plus some practical information on how to care for them, if he desires.

Previously, it had been difficult for home owners to plant trees or shrubs in their yards because of the city's requirement that they obtain a "tree license."

The individual barber shop shavers' mug began to disappear during World War One when many soldiers learned to shave themselves.

Storms Batter Southern U.S.

Kill Woman, Ground At Least 15 Planes

By The Associated Press
Storms struck the South and Southwest yesterday, killing a Mississippi woman, grounding aircraft and scattering a harvest of destruction.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration at New Orleans said storm weather conditions in Louisiana and Mississippi forced at least 15 planes, mostly military aircraft, to swoop into Moisant International Airport for safety.

In Biloxi, Miss., lightning killed a woman and a windstorm blew down a tent where Rev. G. B. McDowell of Dallas, Tex., was conducting a revival. He remained at a microphone during the storm and directed a congregation of more than 1,000 persons to safety.

The squall slipped over into Mobile, Ala., shattering thousands of window panes in Abilene. A small tornado hit the southeast section of the city, ripping down power lines and smashing small buildings. Rotan, 50 miles northwest of Abilene, was pelted with hail that broke windows and damaged roofs.

There were showers and thunderstorms today in the central and southern Great Plains. A small area of rain hit portions of eastern New York and eastern Pennsylvania and is moving to the ocean.

Fair weather prevailed over most of the country, however.

Logger Gets 'Hot Foot', And It Wasn't A Joke

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—A logger at near-by Tupper Lake became the victim of a "hot foot," and it was no joke.

It happened when Rolland LaBarge slipped and fell into a "hot pond" while at work. Both legs were burned in the scalding water, which is used to help remove the bark of logs before they are sent into the mill.

Berle Raises Million During TV Marathon

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Comedian Milton Berle raised $1,127,211 in pledges for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund during a 22-hour television marathon.

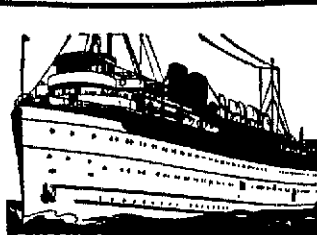

By the time he finished his stint before the hot lights at 10 a. m. yesterday, Berle had lost nine pounds and changed his costume six times.

He planned to "sleep—just sleep" after personally taking some 2,000 telephone calls.

During the marathon, nine pretty models helped Berle take phoned pledges before the TV cameras. More than 1,000 other volunteer telephone operators worked in shifts behind the scenes.

Scores of celebrities helped keep the show going.

CONSTANT repetition is fundamental in training war dogs. Ordered to "sit and stay," these dogs carry out the command while their handlers walk away.

LEARNING to take cover with master is extremely important to dog who is going to see action. It is taught to remain in position until ordered to move.

A WHIFF of the "enemy" alerts the dog, who "freezes" when he scents unfriendly troops. He has learned to control his barking, walk quietly and obey.

CRAWLING alongside his handler, dog keeps close to ground, his head low. The Army now has more than 900 dogs on active duty, most of them overseas.

Trained to obey the first aid man's commands, a Casualty Dog streaks away in search of "wounded" soldiers during exercises for the combat canines at Fort Riley, Kan.

CASUALTY DOGS

Combat Dogs Are Trained To Find Wounded Soldiers

MAN'S BEST FRIEND—the dog—is again proving his allegiance on the Korean battlefield. He is the Casualty Dog, whose task is to locate wounded soldiers incapable of summoning help for themselves.

Thoroughly trained in his job, the Casualty Dog is assigned to an aid man. He is directed by his handler's signals to methodically search a designated area for injured GIs. Finding a victim, the dog takes the most direct route back to his handler, who puts a leash on him and follows him back to the casualty. German shepherds are used for this work, since they possess an exceptional amount of affection for man, a strong desire to please their masters and the needed stamina.

When dogs of war are "enlisted" in the Army, they are sent to Fort Riley, Kan., where these pictures were made. Once in the service, the canines undergo practically the same processing as a private. They get a complete physical examination.

Basic training begins with the dog's assignment to a specific handler, who looks after him and trains him. He is taught the meaning of "heel, sit, down, stay, come and crawl." Upon completion of basic training, the dog's intelligence is rated, his aptitudes are observed and the type of advance training for which he is best suited is determined—sentry, attack, scout, messenger, trail or casualty.

Time is an important factor in saving a casualty's life, so the dog is taught to jump fences and other obstacles in the way as he seeks out wounded soldiers.

LOCATING a "litter case," the dog stops for a moment's rest before returning to the first aid man. On a leash, the Casualty Dog will lead the medical corpsman back to the "wounded" soldier. The animals are taught to differentiate between wounded soldiers who are able to summon help and those who cannot.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY ROBINSON, 1785 Pennsylvania Ave., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lily Robinson, to Ronald Knestat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knestat of New Middleton.

The nuptials will take place June 30 at 5 o'clock in St. Aloysius Rectory.

The bride-elect was a member of the Junior Class of East Liverpool High School and is employed as a nurse's aide at City Hospital. Her fiancé works at the Crucible Steel Co., Midland.

IN THE OLD STONE Presbyterian Church at Cleveland Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Maxine Schell and Lora Ash exchanged marriage vows. Rev. Francis Volpito performed the double-ring rites. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schell, 215 Thompson Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Merle Ash of Sistersville.

A 15-minute recital of organ music preceded the ceremony. The bride was attired in a Navy blue tulle dress with a white duster and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Buida of Cleveland were attendants and she wore Navy blue with a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception followed at the couple's new home at 6017 Vandalia St., Cleveland.

The bride is a graduate of East Liverpool High School and of Kent State University. She is employed at Halle Brothers in Cleveland.

Her husband received his degree in Architecture Saturday morning at commencement at Kent State.

MISS JEAN EASON carried an heirloom rosepoint lace handkerchief and had a sixpence in her shoe at her wedding Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to Glenn K. Harriman. The single-ring rites were performed by Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, pastor, in the First Presbyterian Church. Palms, ferns and white flowers formed the setting for the candlelight nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Eason, 1222 Jennings Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Whedon Harriman of Columbus.

Walter Wanger of Cleveland, presented a 40-minute recital of harp music and Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, church organist, played the wedding march.

White satin bows marked the pews for the families.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a gown of chantilly lace over marquisette and satin skirts and a yoke of illusion formed the jeweled neckline of the fitted bodice with long sleeves. Sequins trimmed the dress and the full skirt ended in a train.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion was highlighted with a Juliet cap trimmed in a matching band of illusion. The two white orchids of her bridal bouquet were encircled with white flowers.

Mrs. Thomas Eason, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor in blue marquisette over satin with a lace bodice and wore a matching lace Juliet cap. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and blue flowers with streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Susan Hall, Miss Ellen Philbeck of Shelby, N. C., and Miss Jeannette Parfitt of The Plains.

They wore pink gowns similar to that of the maid of honor and carried Colonial bouquets of blue and pink flowers with streamers.

Little Diana Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Finley, was flower girl in a white gown and carried a basket of rose petals.

Young Billy Eason, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

Richard Hansberger of Columbus served as best man and ushers included Robert Haught of Columbus, Richard Belaney, Thomas Eason, brother of the bride, and Robert Brewster, cousin.

Mrs. Eason was attired in a rose colored dress with Navy accessories and orchid, and Mrs. Harriman chose an aqua shadow lace dress with white accessories and also wore an orchid.

Three hundred attended the reception following in the church social rooms and palms and flowers formed the decorations throughout. Snapdragons, greenery and silver decorated the table for the tiered cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple and trimmed with bells.

Aides were Miss Betty May Brewster of Pittsburgh, cousin of the bride, Miss Carolyn Carver, Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Ernest Purton, Mrs. William Stoddard, Mrs. Ray Diddle, Mrs. Roger Lee of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Robert Paisley of Irondale, Miss Ruth Green, Mrs. Helen Parker and Mrs. James Lessel.

The couple left for a 10-day trip North and for traveling the bride was dressed in a Navy blue suit with white and Navy accessories and wore her bridal orchids.

They will reside at 474 South East 22nd Ave., Columbus, where the bridegroom is instrumental Music director in the schools.

The bride is a graduate of East Liverpool High School with the Class of 1941 and of Oberlin Conservatory of Music in 1945 and was harp instructor for two years at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg. She received her Master's Degree at Ohio State University.

Train Them Young, Veteran Teacher Urges

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—A Tennessee woman who has ended 40 years of teaching thinks too much emphasis is placed on higher education.

Miss Sue Powers of Memphis believes the emphasis of education should be turned back to the first grade.

"Unless you have good elementary schools, your other schools will not be good," she said.

"Miss Sue", as she is known, taught in Shelby county schools near Memphis and was county superintendent for 28 years.

The modern school system is designed for the professions and for those going on to college, she said, and does not take into account the different level of abilities of children.

"The first grade is where weaknesses in children begin to show and where they should be attended to," she observed.

Every elementary school should have a work shop for boys, music, art and homemaking classes, she thinks. She considers a good music program and a good health program essentials.

Between one-fourth and one-third of the population of the world is not included in official census counts.

Health Plan's Dead For Now, A.M.A. Claims

Association To Ease Long Battle Against Compulsory Action

ATLANTIC CITY, June 11 (AP)—The American Medical Association's president, Elmer L. Henderson, said today that the A.M.A. could relax its two-and-a-half-year battle against compulsory health insurance.

In a speech during the first session of the A.M.A. House of Delegates annual meeting, Dr. Henderson said that the possibilities of a national health plan are now gone, "at least temporarily."

He announced that the A.M.A.'s special intensive campaign against compulsory health insurance will stop by the end of this year.

Henderson said a Board of Trustees decision to terminate the drive was made on the advice of campaign directors Clem Whitaker and Leone Baxter, Chicago public relations directors retained for the fight.

The regular A.M.A. staff he said will now take over their job "to hold the ground already gained and ward off any new attacks."

Henderson praised the Whitaker-Baxter team for "inspired direction" and "heart-and-soul dedication to our battle."

He also urged continued support for A.M.A. projects to improve medical service among these he listed:

1—The national fund for medical education, which will make a first distribution of money to medical schools about July 1.

2—Voluntary health insurance programs now believed to cover about 80 million people.

3—Grievance committees to iron out doctor-patient quarrels.

Drives Into Drugstore By Way Of Windows

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Mrs. Thomas Moore, 22, headed for the drugstore on an early-morning errand, stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake.

The car plunged through a brick wall, two drugstore windows and the cigar case.

She tried the drugstore door, but it wasn't open so she went home. The drugstore owner said he would not prosecute because Moore's insurance covered the damage.

Truck In Skid Hits Garage On Lisbon St.

Traffic Lights Figure In 3 Other Mishaps During Week End

A Lisbon St. garage was demolished early Saturday night by a Midland furniture company's truck that ran out of control on the grade, police reported.

The front of the two-car frame garage on the property of Mrs. Pauline Diney, 1020 Lisbon St., was smashed by a truck of the Megdal Furniture Co. of Midland Ave., driven by Malvin Evans, 39, of 515 Wood Lane, Midland, police said.

Mrs. Diney said the building must be razed and rebuilt, as the siding was torn out of line and it was loosened on its foundation. There was no car in the garage, as it is used for storage.

The truck went out of control about 8:45 p. m., police said, and the driver blamed the accident on a skid when he applied the brakes coming down grade.

Five other week-end collisions were reported, three of them blamed indirectly on traffic lights. A 1937 sedan driven by Jean C. Grimm, 21, of Steubenville, R. D. 1 hit the side of a tractor-trailer operated by Robert R. Devenney, 35, of Warsaw Ind., Sunday at 4 a. m. at Fifth and Market Sts.

The woman said she attempted to stop for a red light but her brakes failed and she hit the side of the trailer, police said.

A collision at East Third and Market Sts. Saturday at 8:25 p. m. damaged a parked 1930 sedan driven by Evis B. Bettebridge, 1441 Etruria St., and a 1942 coupe operated by Robert F. Kollman, 20, of LaCroft, police said. Kollman said his car skidded into the Bettebridge car when he applied the brakes to stop for a traffic light.

The third intersection mishap was timed at 10:40 p. m. Saturday at Washington and East Fifth Sts. It damaged autos driven by Dan Hilditch, 17, of 402 Ridgeway Ave., and Douglas H. Bateman, 34, of Walnut St. Hilditch stopped suddenly for a traffic light and was hit from the rear by Bateman's car, police said.

The other two crashes involved Cars of Lancy F. Althar, 41, of 827 Laura Ave., and Ernest D. Swearingen, 65, of Hookstown Saturday at 12:55 p. m. on Market St. near Fifth St., and Autos of Homer E. Herman, 41, of R. D. 2 and Charles J. Ward, 17, of 321 West Fourth St., Saturday at 3:10 p. m. at West Fifth and Jackson Sts.

Movies Dating To 1893 Are Still On Display

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—Television fans who get a kick out of watching old-time movies on their sets might like to have the choice available to James Card.

Assistant curator in charge of motion pictures at the George Eastman House, Mr. Card can flip through an index and pick out any one of 700 films ranging through the early "sound" days and back to 1893.

Reels of Charlie Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino and Theda Bara flickers are catalogued with such rare movies as Faust, with Emil Jannings, the only print of the show available to American audiences.

The earliest film in the collection is Edison's Fatima produced in 1893. Most of the films are "silents", including Gloria Swanson in Shifting Sands, the actress' first dramatic role after her graduation from Keystone Comedies.

Here's 180 Horsepower... on regular grade gas—Now!

It's always interesting to hear about future-looking experiments with new super engines to run on new super-octane fuels...someday. But it's even more interesting to hear today's real life, on-the-highway talk about Chrysler's new super-performing FirePower engine. FirePower takes any regular grade gas you care to buy... and adds its own new mechanical octanes to the power-giving octanes of the gasoline itself. The result is 180 horsepower performance such as no other passenger car built in the U.S. today can equal.

If you haven't driven Chrysler FirePower yet, your Chrysler dealer invites you to do so now. It's the most revolutionary engine in 27 years. It offers highway satisfaction and safety such as you've never known. And it's a sounder engine other ways than any other on the road. Its new design keeps it almost completely carbon-free. It is smooth and quiet... but also rugged and strong and free from need for great attention and repair.

Now remember that this same new Chrysler offers you the new Hydramatic power steering... plus the amazing new rough-road stability of Onflow shock absorbers... plus Water-Proof Ignition, and Vacuum-Ease Chrysler Cyclebonded super-brakes... then come see what we mean when we say the car of your tomorrow is right here for you to drive... today, and for years to come!

4-H Club News

A tour of the Keil Greenhouse and garden will be made by the No. 16 Agriculture 4-H Club tonight at 7:30. The visit was planned when nine members met at the home of Jon and Jason Frischkorn on the Irondale Road.

James Bentz was appointed chairman of a committee to plan for a box social. The business in charge of Harry Swearingen, president, opened with the 4-H pledge and roll call was answered by something club members might do for the community. The farm electricity projects were studied and discussed.

The club will meet June 18 with James Bentz. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Frischkorn and sons, Jon and Jason.

NATURE study and sewing were projects continued by the Hillcrest 4-H Club at its meeting Friday afternoon with Diane and Richard Wilk of the Scotch Settlement.

Softball was enjoyed and lunch was served to 12 members and four guests by Mrs. Richard Wilk and Mrs. Beulah Betteridge.

Donal Green of Hillcrest will be host Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

MEMBERS of the Country Gentlemen's 4-H Club made plans for the 4-H river excursion next Thursday when they met at the home of Paul Stewart, adviser, on the Salineville Road, Wellsville. Games were enjoyed before and after the meeting. The next will be June 18 at the home of Merle Stewart.

Brotherly Love Parts On Pair Of Trousers

MENDERSON, Ky. (UP) — A police sergeant in charge of the desk at headquarters here believes he has heard it all now.

Recently a man called regarding a prisoner held on a drunkenness charge.

"I want to know if I can come down and take the pants off my brother," he asked the sergeant. "He's got on the pants to my new suit."

The sergeant, hardly pausing, told him to come ahead.

ARE YOU DEAF OR JUST HARD OF HEARING

There is a Big Difference

Few people are deaf but there are many who are hard of hearing. They may hear low voices perfectly all right in the kitchen, but cannot hear in church, the movies, at lodge. This is the most common type of hard of hearing . . . and it is a long way from being deaf; but it can be just as distracting for the one speaking as the one listening.

If you are hard of hearing and can hear on the telephone, then you should try a GOLDENTONE HEARING AID. Is good hearing worth $125.00 to you? Come to our office and try the GOLDENTONE . . . you will marvel at how clearly you can hear.

If you cannot come in, phone or write and a representative will call.

Fund Charge Ires Luciano

Cries 'No Pictures!' In Denying His Guilt

NAPLES, June 11 —An angry Charles "Lucky" Luciano today brushed off news photographers bitterly saying "No publicity for my great New York."

Luciano made no effort to conceal his fury over the week-end Italian police announcement that he faces up to $300,000 in fines for illegal currency deals.

The former New York crime king also barked out a refusal when photographers asked to snap the swank American automobile which Italian authorities claim was imported illegally.

"A good friend of mine phoned from Rome. He asked to take pictures. I even said no to him," stormed Luciano. "No pictures, see?"

The Italian police have charged Luciano with illegally importing $57,000 in U. S. currency and an American car. In a less savage mood while interviewed at the races yesterday, he told reporters he was innocent of any wrongdoing and "necessary steps" are being taken to clear up the automobile charge.

'De-Wolfing' Law Aimed At Detroit Drivers

DETROIT (UP)—Traffic Judge John D. Watts has put Detroit's old "ogling" ordinance to use in his war against auto "wolves". He has adopted the law in an effort to crack down on male drivers who show undue interest in women drivers or pedestrians. The judge's "de-wolfing" campaign will cost guilty persons their driving privileges for a year.

Take Care Of Your Home

Whitish Stuff On Bricks Is Just 'Efflorescence'

If your brick house, new stone wall or concrete basement shows some crusty white blotches in dry weather, don't think it means you are getting to be a moldy old fossil. This is just efflorescence—a drying of natural soluble salts brought to the surface by moisture. You can remove it. It can happen in the best of masonry homes.

In fact, it's a good sign. It gives you a warning that there is an abnormal moisture source that ought to be eliminated.

Efflorescence is caused by alkaline salts in the concrete or mortar and sometimes in the bricks themselves, carried to the surface by moisture and then drying in a whitish crust or deposit.

This bluish often will disappear in time. Rain will wash it off, or you can brush it down with a wire brush. Scrubbing with a stiff brush and clear water is even more effective.

If your patience is short and the condition is more stubborn, you'll have to use acid. This is tricky, however, so take it easy. The usual formula is one part of muriatic (hydrochloric) acid to nine or ten parts of water. In mixing it, the acid should be poured slowly into the water, while stirring and avoiding splattering.

MURIATIC ACID is hot stuff and calls for rubber gloves, old clothes and goggles or a mask to protect the eyes and face.

Scrub the solution over the brickwork with a stiff fiber brush — don't use a wire brush. As soon as it has been on for two or three minutes it should be flushed with clear water. A hose can be used. If you wait longer for the rinsing, you run the risk of pitting the mortar or concrete work.

All trim, including window and door frames, should be covered to protect them from the acid. A solution of a pint of ammonia in two gallons of water will completely neutralize and remove all remaining traces of the acid.

The most important thing about efflorescence is that it indicates dampness within the wall. This calls for correction. Lack of flashing at critical points, defective flashing or gutters, faults in copings or mortar joints can admit such dampness.

EFFLORESCENCE under windows can mean that sills or caulking around the window frames leak.

A patch of such encrustation in the middle of a brick wall may mean a defective mortar joint. These should be raked out and repointed.

If flashing appears to be at fault, it should be replaced with copper or other non-corrosive metal or good quality bituminous flashing to thoroughly seal the joints around openings.

All cracks around windows and door openings should be tightly packed with an elastic caulking compound.

Since efflorescence is merely the outward sign of moisture in a wall, its real significance is as a warning signal. Moisture that leaks one way, probably leaks the other way too. When it leaks inside the wall it cancels all insulation value and causes rot of vital structural timbers.

Therefore it is much more important to eliminate the cause of efflorescence than to scratch the evidence off the exterior.

But don't worry too much about new masonry work. The excessive amount of water retained by mortar requires time to work out.

Sahara Desert Termed Wet In Comparison With Mars

DUBLIN, June 11 (UP)—"The Sahara desert is a wet and humid place compared with the planet Mars," Professor Donald H. Menzel of Harvard University told a meeting of astronomers.

Addressing the Royal Astronomical Society, Dr. Menzel elaborated on his studies of planetary atmospheres.

(Advertisement)
Do FALSE TEETH
Rock, Slide or Slip?

PASTERETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. PASTERETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour (check "plate color" (denture breath). Get PASTERETH at any drug store.

"We have long known that water is scarce on Mars," he said. "Unlike the earth, where only a minute fraction of the available moisture occurs as atmospheric vapor, Mars has a very sizable fraction of its moisture in the atmosphere. Even so the humidity is extremely low—less than one-tenth of 1 per cent, on the average."

The professor said the polar caps of Mars are not great "blocks of ice, but mere fields of hoarfrost, ice crystals like those on a window pane or in the freezing compartment of an electric refrigerator."

Their thickness, he said, probably is only a fraction of an inch and during the long Martian summer the frost caps slowly evaporate, without melting.

About 25 years ago Dr. William H. Wright of Lick Observatory noted that photographs of Mars, taken in blue light, appeared to be larger than those taken in red light.

Dr. Menzel showed that a thin layer of dry ice-snow, formed some 60 miles above the surface of the planet, could account for Wright's observations.

An observer on the surface of Mars would find a deep-blue daylight sky. The days are generally clear, but in the late afternoon a freezing fog may form. The fog, consisting of fine ice crystals, is usually blue, though sometimes white, in color.

It disappears during the early morning, shortly after sunrise. On Mars oxygen is rare, if present at all, Dr. Menzel commented. Animal life of types similar to those observed on the earth would be unlikely.

However, some simpler forms of vegetation, such as lichens, may be present on Mars and thus account for the dark markings that change their color values with the Martian seasons.

Commenting on the polar caps on Mars, Dr. Menzel said the polar temperature, while the cap is present, ranges from about 40 to 130 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Once the cap disappears, within the season of the "midnight sun," the polar caps can become the warmest spots on the surface of the planet.

"The temperature may rise to 65 to 70 degree above zero Fahrenheit," Dr. Menzel said.

Texas Nighthawk Uses Own Cooling System

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The Texas nighthawk has a built-in cooling system in its mouth so the species can sit on nests in 100-degree temperatures, scientists have discovered.

Zoologists at the University of California at Los Angeles report that the nighthawk's natural refrigerator works like this:

When temperatures rise, the bird opens its mouth; unique throat muscles fan air over large veins; moisture from oral surfaces is evaporated (cooling) the hawk's blood supply.

Dr. Raymond B. Cowles said nature apparently worked out this system because the night-flying bird, which has no sweat glands, must sit on eggs under a broiling sun. They cover their nests during days, he explained, to keep eggs from being parboiled, not to keep them warm.

No Window-Peeper Says Thief In Scorn

EMPORIA, Kan. (UP)—Truthfulness doesn't pay in some instances.

A suspected window-peeper was arrested. He told the judge he was looking for something to steal. "You see," he said, "I'm a thief."

The judge said 90 days.

Browsing Readers Taxed At Newsstand

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Browsing readers who don't buy have become more and more of a problem to a Milwaukee magazine stand operator.

First he posted a sign that read: "No loitering. Then: 'Please do not handle the magazines.' Finally: 'A charge of 95 cents an hour is required if more magazines are handled than are bought'.

Enjoys Being Stung

PORTLAND, Me. — Ernest B. Fletcher, a barber who keeps a dozen hives of bees as a hobby says he likes to get stung once in a while. "That bee venom is great stuff," Fletcher said. "They use it today to fight diseases. I want to get stung once in a while because it saves me going to the doctor and getting jabbed for five bucks with the same thing."

We Eat Too Well, Economist Says

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UP)—It isn't the high cost of living that's putting you in the poor house. It's your stomach.

Such is the opinion of Professor Arthur Mauch, Michigan State College economist, who offers figures to back him up.

He claims that the average American spends $350, or one-fourth of his income, for food today but could save $100 if he bought the same amounts of the same kinds of foods he bought between 1925 and 1939.

"People complain about the increased cost of living over the 30's, but what they forget is that they are eating steak today while they ate hamburger 15 years ago," Mauch said.

The economist contends that the wage-earners who have kept up with the average salary increases can buy more of the same food today with less of their disposable incomes than in the 30's.

Yellow Paint Baffles Wandering Cattle

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—Wyoming cattle have learned how to get by a cattle guard, but a line of yellow paint still stumps them.

The Wyoming Highway Department disclosed that experiments in curbing the wanderlust of the range cattle have turned up yellow paint as one solution.

Department officials said a study showed that it would cost more than five million dollars for fence alone to close them off the open range from the highways and that even then the cattle ignore the cattle guards and get onto the roads anyway.

So the department tried painting wide yellow lines to simulate cattle guards. Apparently it works, for some unknown reason.

"Not a cow has crossed one yet," one official said.

'De-Wolfing' Law Aimed At Detroit Drivers

DETROIT (UP)—Traffic Judge
John D. Watts has put Detroit's old "ogling" ordinance to use in his war against auto "wolves".

He has adopted the law in an effort to crack down on male drivers who show undue interest in women drivers or pedestrians. The judge's "de-wolfing" campaign will cost guilty persons their driving privileges for a year.

Take Care Of Your Home

Whitish Stuff On Bricks Is Just 'Efflorescence'

If your brick house, new stone wall or concrete basement shows some crusty white blotches in dry weather, don't think it means you are getting to be a moldy old fossil. That's just efflorescence—a drying of natural soluble salts brought to the surface by moisture.
You can remove it. It can happen in the best of masonry homes.

In fact, it's a good sign. It gives you a warning that there is an abnormal moisture source that ought to be eliminated.

Efflorescence is caused by alkaline salts in the concrete or mortar, and sometimes in the bricks themselves, carried to the surface by moisture, and then drying in a whitish crust or deposit.

This blemish often will disappear in time. Rain will wash it off, or you can brush it down with a wire brush. Scrubbing with a stiff brush and clear water is even more effective.

If your patience is short and

MURIATIC ACID is hot stuff and calls for rubber gloves, old clothes and goggles or a mask to protect the eyes and face.

Scrub the solution over the brickwork with a stiff fiber brush—don't use a wire brush. As soon as it has been on for two or three minutes it should be flushed with clear water. A hose can be used.

If you wait longer for the rinsing, you run the risk of pitting the mortar or concrete work.

All trim, including window and door frames, should be covered to protect them from the acid. A solution of a pint of ammonia in two gallons of water will completely neutralize and remove all remaining traces of the acid.

The most important thing about efflorescence is that it indicates dampness within the wall. This calls for correction. Lack of flashing at critical points, defective flashing or gutters, faults in copings or mortar joints can admit such dampness.

EFFLORESCENCE under windows can mean that silk or caulking around the window frames leak.

A patch of such encrustation in the middle of a brick wall may mean defective mortar joints.
These should be raked out and re-pointed.

If flashing appears to be at fault, it should be replaced with copper or other non-corrosive metal or good quality bituminous flashing to thoroughly seal the joints around openings.

All cracks around windows and door openings should be tightly packed with an elastic caulking compound.

Since efflorescence is merely the outward sign of moisture in a wall, its real significance is as a warning signal. Moisture that leaks one way, probably leaks the other way too. When it leaks inside the wall it cancels all insulation value and causes rot of vital structural timbers.

Therefore it is much more important to eliminate the causes of efflorescence than to scratch the evidence off the exterior.

But don't worry too much about new masonry work. The excessive amount of water retained by mortar requires time to work out.

Get To Work If Your Floor Seems To Sag

More Support Needed
To Hold Weight; Tips
On Best Way To Do It

Quite a few of the owners of newly-built houses have noticed that the floors seem to have a great amount of spring to them.

After a visit to such a floor may show a tendency to sag and people walking heavily across it may feel it shake slightly.

This is caused by the use of a floor joist which is lighter than it should be, or by the omitting of a supporting girder where the joists span a wide space. Both things are done to save money in building the house.

The remedy for this condition is very simple and not all costly. The owner should inspect the underside of the floor and decide where bracing is required. This is a matter of common sense as it will be plain where the spin of the joists is too great.

A heavy, 2 inch by 8 inch plank can be prepared to be spiked up into the lower edges of the floor joists. It can be wedged up temporarily by cutting two lengths of board three inches longer than the measurement between floor and bottom of the joists and wedging them up beneath the plank to hold it in position. Heavy nails then are driven up through the plank and into the bottom edge of each joist two nails to each. The temporary boards now can be removed.

There are two ways of fastening the job. One is to cut pieces of 4x4 or a round post about an inch and a half longer than the actual dimension between plank and floor.

and drive them into a vertical position.

The second and best method is to buy two or more telescoping iron posts particularly made for this purpose and set them in place as shown. These may be screwed up to a tight fit. The results of such a job are quite astonishing, as the whole house feels firmer and stronger and all sense of weakness will be gone.

There is no use in setting posts or columns under several of the joists independently as frequently is done in an effort to reinforce a floor. The heavy plank is essential to a proper job. In one case it is like pushing a finger against the ceiling and in the other case like opening your hand and pressing up with your palm.

People have tried to brace a floor by setting 2x4's on the floor on end, and having them reach right up to the underside of the sub-flooring and then nailing them into the sides of the joists. This is absolutely useless and a waste of lumber and effort.

Cooled-Off White Sox Head East—Land Of 'Free And Plenty'

Florists Divide Twin Bill With Springfield

Set To Sizzle Again; Cling To Slender Lead

BY JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer
The cooled-off Chicago White Sox are all set to sizzle again. Why not? Aren't they showing off today on a two-week swing of the east—the land of free and plenty?

New York, Boston, Washington and Philadelphia have been cities of paradise for the dazzling White Sox. Everything the American League leaders have touched there has turned to gold. They've still to taste defeat.

It was in Boston where the Sox started their sensational 11-game winning streak. It was in New York where they became the first invading team to win a game. It was in Washington where they swept all three. And it was in Philadelphia where they climaxed the first all-conquering eastern invasion by a Chicago team.

No wonder the White Sox look forward to their next 14 games with relish. They open the tour tomorrow night against the Senators, whom they've whipped five straight times, and close June 24 in Boston, whom they've beaten six out of seven.

The Sox gave their delicious fans a terrific scare over the weekend, losing three straight to the Yankees. A near-capacity Comiskey Park Sunday crowd of 52,054 was resigned to a fourth straight loss when the Yankees zoomed into a 4-0 second game lead after winning a 2-1 opener.

The Sox stormed back, however, coming from behind twice, to win the nightcap, 11-7, and gain a precious split. Thus the Sox start east with a two and a half game lead over the stubborn defending champion New Yorkers.

Boston's resurgent Red Sox fought back into contention, sweeping two games from Cleveland, 9-6 and 8-2, to take undisputed possession of third place. They trail the Sox by five and a half games.

Brooklyn retained its five and a half game advantage in the National League, dividing a pair with Pittsburgh. The Dodgers eked out a 2-1 win in the opener and the Pirates copped the 11-inning nightcap, 5-4.

Two streaks were snapped as Chicago held the New York Giants even in a twin bill. After the Giants had won the first game, 6-1, for their fifth in a row over Chicago, the Cubs came back to gain their first triumph over New York, 7-3. They added insult to injury by smashing Sal Maglie's nine-game winning streak.

St. Louis moved within a point of the second place Cincinnati Reds, nipping the Braves in Boston, 3-4. The Reds, scheduled to play two in Philadelphia, were washed out by rain.

Handcuffed with seven hits by Eddie Lopat in the opener, the White Sox hammered six Yankee pitchers for 14 hits in the nightcap. Randy Gumpert, who pitched the last three and two thirds innings, registered his fifth victory without a defeat.

Two dozen hits plus four errors by Cleveland Shortstop Ray Boone helped the Red Sox beat the Indians twice. Two miscues by Boone accounted for five unearned Sox runs in the opener.

Ned Garver absorbed his severest punishment of the year as Washington slugged him for 18 hits, but he went the distance as St. Louis backed him to a 10-9 victory. An 11th inning homer by Gil Coan won the second game for Washington.

The Tigers bombed seven Philadelphia flingers for 26 hits including two homers by Dick Kryhoski and one apiece by Vic Wertz and Pat Mullin in the opener. A six-run outburst in the third off Joe Coleman won the second game for Detroit.

Paul Kliner blasted two homers to lead the Pirates to a split with Brooklyn. His 15th of the season came in the 11th of the nightcap with Pete Reiser on base.

Four Giant homers by Alvin Dark, Eddie Stanky, Wes Westrum and Don Mueller helped Larry Jansen coast to his sixth victory in the first game. Bob Rush stopped the Giants in the nightcap.

Stan Musial lashed a triple and two singles to lead the Cards to victory over the Braves. Harry Brecheen weathered a ninth inning storm to register his fourth win.

Francis T. Murray, Penn director of athletics, invited the N. C. A. A. to join with the university in submitting the dispute to the United States attorney general for a ruling.

Murray sent this telegram to Dr. Hugh C. Willett, president of the N. C. A. A., regarding the legality of the N. C. A. A. television moratorium:

"Will you join with the University of Pennsylvania in requesting the attorney general of the United States for a ruling as to whether under the Sherman Antitrust Act and the N. C. A. A. constitution the action of the N. C. A. A. in requiring the University of Pennsylvania to discontinue its 11-year record of televising football games on Franklin Field is legal or illegal?"

"University of Pennsylvania will abide by such a ruling."

Daily Double Returns $231 At Waterford

Olah and W. B. Williams had two winners each on the eight-race card.

Oom Paul, ridden by Howard Craig, won the feature, a $3,500 handicap.

ART HOUTEMAN
Tiger Mount Ace

Baseball's loss is the Army's gain. Here are a few of the many big leaguers now in the armed forces. The loss of such young pitchers as Art Houteman (19 wins for Detroit), Curt Simmons (17 wins for the Phillies), and Ed Ford (9 straight for the Yanks) certainly has had a bearing on the 1935 pennant races. None of the teams has found adequate replacements for these stalwarts. Baseball in general is proud of all its youngsters now doing their bit for national defense.

Yankee Manager Raps Rowdiness Of League Fans

CHICAGO, June 11.—Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, lashed out today at what he called "the increasing rowdiness" of American League baseball fans.

He decried the deportment of home town rovers both here at Comiskey Park and in Detroit and threatened to remove his team from the field at any time he thought his players were not receiving adequate protection.

"Mickey Mantle, my 19-year-old outfielder, was peppered with firecrackers here Friday night," Stengel said. "Some stupid clown threw a whiskey bottle out of the stands near him, too. A Cleveland fan pushed a block out in Ed Lopat's face. In Briggs Stadium, Detroit, my other young fellow, Jack Jensen, was pelted with stones when he went after a fly ball recently. They run their park pretty good there and they made a real effort to find out where the fans got the stones."

"Four were recovered on the field and the Detroit people tried to match them with the soil in the end park. But they didn't match in color or size, and so it seems as though some fool brought the stones into the park for the purpose of throwing them at a visiting player."

Stengel continued: "Foolish stunts like that might cut short a man's career or even cost him his eyesight."

At Sunday's doubleheader the fans were constantly warned via the public address system not to throw paper and trash onto the field. However, the outfield was scattered with shredded paper and even a pasteboard box was thrown out.

Dutch Opponent Walks Out Of Ring; Sugar Scores TKO

ANTWERP, Belgium, June 11.—Middleweight Champion Sugar Robinson scored a technical knockout over Jan De Bruin this afternoon when the Dutchman decided he'd had enough and strolled out of the ring in the middle of the eighth round.

De Bruin showed no bruises from the heavy pounding the New York fighter gave him in the sixth and seventh rounds.

A crowd of 8,000 in the Sports Palace gasped with surprise when De Bruin decided to take a walk in the scheduled 10-round bout. The Dutchman apparently did not like Robinson's angry treatment in the sixth round. Robinson had De Bruin in a corner twice and when he stepped back and let De Bruin out.

Groundskeepers, $4; dragging and preparing fields, $4; umpires, $14; scorers, $3; ticket sellers, $3; return of foul balls, $1 plus, and six new balls, $15.50.

Meanwhile, Lawrence J. Zollinger, president, said several worthwhile suggestions have been received from several fans in response to an appeal for suggestions and criticisms.

Porter Willison, 810 Avondale St., pointed out there are too many protests on each play and too much time out and stalling. He suggested sponsors take more interest in their teams.

An anonymous oldtimer in a letter last week to The Review declared the teams need more practice so that they can become well-coordinated units.

Loop officials are powerless to act on some of the suggestions, such as obstructions at the field and lack of rest rooms.

One fan, who didn't sign his name, merely commented: "Patterson Field is too far away."

There are four Loop rivers in Nebraska.

District Attorney Wins

On His Gamble In Court

LAWRENCEVILLE 10 (UP)—Philip Benefiel state's attorney gambled and won in a police court case.

Mr Benefiel had made a raid seizing 15 slot machines owned by Glenn Parks and was seeking to destroy the machines Mr Parks contended that the devices were merely cabinets made of wood brass and aluminum and were not workable as slot machines.

The state's attorney dropped a nuke into one of the machines pulled down the handle and out came four nickels. Magistrate Roy Walter decided against Mr Parks.

De Vincenzo
Takes Round
Robin Golf

NEW ROCHELLE June 11 (AP)—Robert De Vincenzo today was counting the biggest golf purse he ever won—$3,000—and giving thanks that the lack of the pairings in the final round of the Palm Beach Round Robin Tournament found him matching strokes with three players who couldn't take advantage of his own not-hot game.

The big Argentinean won the event with a point total of 40, an even dozen points better than second place Jim Ferrier. But on the 11th hole of the final round of the five-round event Ferrier had overcome a 19 point deficit and led by three strokes.

De Vincenzo shot a 75 yesterday three over par for the Wyckoff Country Club course and the only one of his five rounds over 68 but the other members of his foursome were as bad or worse. Jack Burke Jr. and Fred Haas Jr. also had 75s and Chick Harbert, pigeon of the tournament had a 79.

The tournament is scored this way. Each member of the foursome meets each other member of his foursome at medal play and if player A has a 70 and player B has a 73 player A is plus 3 and player B minus three.

The foursomes are arranged for every round so each of the 16 entrants meets every other player sometime during the five rounds.

Ferrier won $2,000 for finishing second. The remainder of the field: Lloyd Mangrum plus 26 Jack Burke Jr. plus 20 Cuy Middlecott plus 15 Johnny Palmer plus 14 Bobby Locke plus 14 Henry Ransom plus 13 Fred Haas Jr. plus 5 Clayton Heafner minus 8 Herman Batton minus 14 Jimmy Demaret minus 25 Al Brosch minus 27 Chick Harbert minus 36 and Chandler Harper minus 40.
